NutriDyn®

Nutritional Support for Cardio-Metabolic Health*

The cardiovascular and metabolic systems work together to regulate important bodily processes such as energy metabolism, blood glucose levels, blood pressure, and more. Supporting healthy cardiovascular function and healthy blood glucose levels already in the normal range is important for overall wellness.* The addition of Dynamic Cardio-Metabolic and Gluco IR to habits such as regular exercise, healthy eating, and stress management can help support healthy cardio-metabolic activity.*

- Are you looking to support blood glucose levels already in the normal range?*
- Would you like to support healthy energy metabolism, blood glucose levels, and heart function?*

Dynamic Cardio-Metabolic

Each delicious scoop of the Dynamic Cardio-Metabolic drink formula provides an easily digested source of pea protein isolate and organic brown rice protein with concentrated levels of vitamins, minerals, plant sterols, BCAAs, and prebiotic fiber.* These ingredients help support healthy blood lipid profiles and optimal blood glucose balance already in the normal range.*

Gluco IR

Gluco IR is a high-quality supplement that provides support for balancing healthy blood glucose levels already in the normal range.* Maintaining healthy blood glucose levels provides the energy the body needs to operate properly, including the heart, which relies on glucose as its primary source of energy. The vitamins, minerals, and plant-based extracts in Gluco IR help support healthy blood glucose levels already in the normal range, playing a critical role in overall cardio-metabolic health.*
